

Explanation Batch – Number

For the traceability on the date of manufacture and for the determination of the date for the workability the following system uses "FreiLacke" for the marking.

The date of manufacture results from the batch number the date for the workability on the label of each packing is directly indicated.

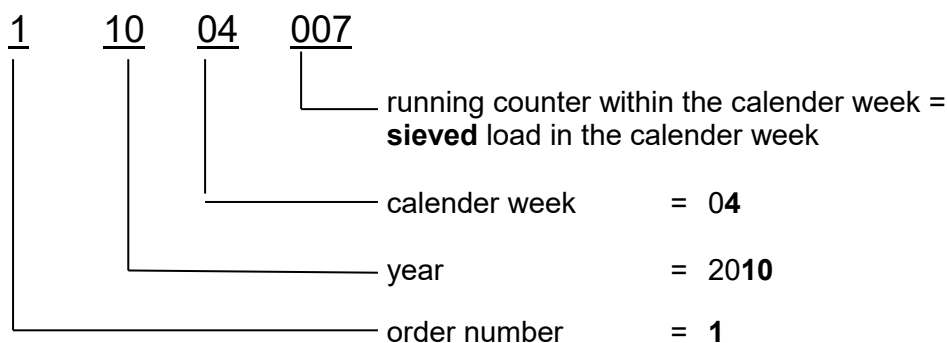

Before January 2010 – batch number 6 places

Example: Batch-Number: 941007 (6 places)

Starting January 2010 – batch number 8 places

Example: Batch-Number: 110004007 (8 places)

A storage beyond the indicated period means not necessarily that the commodity is useless. An examination of the characteristics necessary for the respective targeted application is however in this case for reasons of the quality assurance essential.
